Winemaker Notes

A VINEYARD, A HISTORY, A RISERVA

The 2015 "Canalicchio di Sopra" Brunello di Montalcino Riserva DOCG is true to our winery's production choices: making a Riserva only for vintages destined for long ageing in the bottle and choosing one single vineyard among our oldest which, in that specific year, is able to express the characteristics of the year in the best way, to distinguish itself not for its strength and concentration but for its elegance, freshness, and depth. In years that tend to be warm but balanced and characterized by significant diurnal temperature ranges, the chosen vineyard for this project is Vigna Vecchia Mercatale. This vineyard, planted in 1988, sits on a mostly clayey terrain with a strong presence of minerals and is able to give us wines of great structure and sapidity during the best vintages. Facing north, it is subject to winds from the east which favour the exaltation of balsamic aromas typical of this Cru. Wines from this vineyard reach that optimal balance between fruit and acidity, essential for long ageing. We therefore made the same decision as for the 2010 vintage, to produce our Riserva entirely from the Vigna Vecchia Mercatale vineyard enclosing in each single bottle the essence of this vintage capable of finding a great balance in the context of great elegance.
