WINE REVIEW

96+/100

Good full red. Inviting, rather cool, nuanced aromas of red berries, potpourri, violet, leather, smoke and minerals. Silky, delicately fleshy and suave, with a smooth, round texture and a seamless quality to its delicate spicy and fruity flavours nicely framed by fine-grained tannins and lingering notes of tobacco and camphor. A Brunello that conveys a classic nobility and that strikes me as being remarkably less chunky and thick than is usual for this bottling. Drinking window: 2030-2040.
